The coolest thing made in Wisconsin is Allen Edmonds shoes. Allen Edmonds was started in the small town of Beloit, Wisconsin in 1922. They make shoes, boots, and slip ons that span from formal to casual. They employ 515 people in the town of Port Washington, Wisconsin.

The town of Port Washington, WI is located in southwestern Wisconsin in Ozaukee county. And has a population of about 12000 as of 2019. Port Washington was founded in 1835 by a person named Wooster Harrison.

Allen Edmonds helps recraft shoes to make their life span even longer. Each year, 300 million pairs of shoes are thrown away in the United States alone. By doing this, they save 75,000 pairs of shoes yearly. While making the shoes, they get rid of metals that are harmful to the environment usually used in the tanning process.

In 2021, Allen Edmonds teamed up with Armando Cabral to celebrate their 100th year in business. To celebrate, Cabral produced a shoe that had both European and African qualities. They will be using the profits to help African education and social justice in America.

With Allen Edmonds, quality comes first. They are known throughout America on account of having been worn by Presidents Ronald Reagan, George H. W. Bush, Bill Clinton, And George W. Bush on inauguration day. While making the shoe, it takes 212 steps and 48 hands to complete a single shoe. They also have hand-selected leather and 40000 lasts which are used to form the shoe into its shape. Finally, they hand polish the shoe.

Some may argue that Allen Edmonds is not the coolest thing in Wisconsin based on their perception of Wisconsin. Some may argue that Wisconsin is for kringles, bratwurst, and cheese. However, Allen Edmonds shows the rich history of Wisconsin in just a shoe. Others may ask why choose this over other products in Wisconsin. In view of the fact that Wisconsin is known for all of the above, I wanted to choose something that wasn't just a product, but a part of Wisconsin's history.

Convincingly, the coolest thing in Wisconsin is Allen Edmonds shoes, from presidents wearing them to the hand-selected leather used on every shoe. Furthermore, they started from a small beginning and grew into a worldwide company. Hence, this truly is the coolest thing made in Wisconsin.
